MSHA degrees lead to Leadership Positions

Why Pursue a Career in Health Administration?

- Make a Difference/Social Mission
  - Decisions made by healthcare executives can help improve life for hundreds, even thousands of people every day. Healthcare executives have a sense of social mission—they deeply care about the people they work with and serve.

Career Opportunities

- Healthcare is the largest industry in the U.S., and the second largest employer, with more than 11 million jobs.
- Virtually all new private sector jobs over the past 5 years came from healthcare; and the sector continues to grow faster than most other segments[1]

Career Flexibility

- In addition to more traditional careers in healthcare management, graduates work in many other areas including: pharmaceutical companies, health insurance companies, management consulting, long-term care facilities, professional societies, like American College of Healthcare Executives (ACHE.org) and state and Federal agencies.
- Make a significant contribution to improving the health of the citizens in the communities they serve,
- Opportunity to work in literally tens of thousands of health services organizations throughout the U.S. and the world.

Career Flexibility

- Graduates are also offered positions in the supplier segment for companies that make disposable supplies and equipment, pharmaceutical companies, and consulting firms.
  - Epic
  - Cerner
  - Baxter

- Percent change in employment projected 2014 to 2024 is 17% (much faster than average)
- Median annual earnings of health services managers was $98,560 in 2015.
  - *Source: U.S. Bureau of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics.
  - Might take a couple of years to get there 😊

What skills do I need to be successful in a health administration career?

- Analytical skills
- Communication skills
- Detail oriented
- Interpersonal skills
- Leadership skills
- Technical skills

What does the CSUN MSHA program teach you?

All of the above!

What can you bring to the program? All your healthcare work experiences and learn how to enhance and expand your skills.
