Art, Life, and You

In The Soloist author Steve Lopez describes his first meeting with Nathaniel Ayres who tells him, “I like to be near the Beethoven statue for inspiration.”

We are each inspired by different things—images, words, experiences.

Go to the following website and browse through the arts quotes.

Select one that speaks to you, that somehow captures a feeling or thought you’ve had about life, learning, or yourself.

Write a one-page reflection connecting that quote to your personal experience.
