ANTICIPATED NEEDS: URBS 340A - Quantitative Urban Research Methods

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding.

Current

Courses or Specialization

This course is an introduction to research methods typically used in urban studies and planning. It provides basic skills for research design and statistical techniques appropriate for quantitative analysis. The focus of the course is on the approaches to research design, data collection, analysis of survey data and the application of statistical techniques. Students will learn how and when to use descriptive and inferential statistical analyses. This is an intensive writing course: Students are required to read scholarly research papers and conduct a library literature and database search. Students will learn to use statistical analysis software to build a database to analyze their own data.

Qualifications

Completion of a master's degree is required, Ph.D. desired, in urban studies, planning (city, urban, regional, etc.) or a closely related field.

Prior university or college level teaching with positive teaching evaluations is desired. Experience in applied research design is required.

Ability to teach/mentor a diverse student population.

Experience using learning management software (e.g. Canvas) and remote/virtual teaching technologies (e.g. Zoom) desired.

Salary Range

Placement into a salary range/rank is based on qualifications, experience, and degree completion.

The Lecturer A/Rank 2 base salary range is $4,530 to $5,404 monthly. Teaching 3 units equates to a 0.20 time base (3/15). Calculated at the entry level salary of $4,530, multiplied by time base for a 3-unit course, 0.2, this will be $906 per month paid in 6 monthly checks. The total semester salary is $5,436.

The Lecturer B/Rank 3 base salary range is $5,405 to $6,786 monthly. Teaching 3 units equates to a 0.20 time base (3/15). Calculated at the entry level salary of $5,405, multiplied by the time base for a 3-unit course, 0.2, this will be $1,081 per month paid in 6 monthly checks. The total semester salary is $6,486.

Application Process:

Applicants must submit a current resume and a cover letter which describes their qualifications, designates the specific courses they are interested in teaching, and whenever possible, times available for teaching assignments. The resume should include educational background, prior teaching experience, evidence of scholarship, and/or related professional experience. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.
